Words from the East...

Brethren,

I hope that everyone had an enjoyable summer. We have several events coming up very quickly. The Annual Picnic is on Sep 6th at 10:30. Then that evening we are having a Hiram Award Ceremony. The ceremony begins at 7pm. This year we are honoring Gary Hartjen, PM. Gary has worked very hard for the lodge over many years. Please come out to help us celebrate this well earned award.

The next weekend is Simi Valley Days. This year we are going to have an entry in the parade. So, if you aren't able to actually be in the parade, please come out and watch and cheer as we go rolling by.

Grand Lodge Annual Communication is coming up at the end of the month. I highly encourage anyone that is interested in seeing how Grand Lodge works to come up to San Francisco with us. There are still a few beds available. And don't forget that the Saturday night dinner is on the Master. We are looking into the possibility of carpooling. With the price of gas, we need all the help we can get.

At the October Dinner, we will be presenting a 60 year pin to a sojourning Brother from New York. 60 years is a long time to be a Mason. Please join us for an enjoyable evening of good food and better fellowship.

We are planning on running 2 precincts at the Nov. Elections. This looks to be a high turn out event. Please help us out by volunteering to work the polls. Please contact Gary Hartjen to offer your assistance.

Sincerely and Fraternaly,

Terry Baker
 Master

Q&A with Oscar

This month I interviewed Joe Reiner, PM, the Secretary of Simi Valley Lodge, regarding a new officer position and program created by the Grand Lodge.

Q - Tell us about this new position.

A - Over the past several years California Masonic lodges have been experiencing an increasing number of candidates dropping out of Masonry after their initiation. A study by the Grand Lodge of the underlining causes revealed that those lodges who did not have an established program to maintain a candidate's interest during his degrees led to as much as a thirty percent loss of candidates. In that respect the Grand Lodge designed a program, The Masonic Formation Committee, that could be established in each California lodge to educate and form the Masonic foundation of each candidate. Moreover, this Committee could act as an adjunct to the Masonic Education Committee that some lodges may have in effect.

Q - How is this Committee different from the Masonic Education Committee?

A - While some MECs focus mainly on candidate education or member education, or both, the MFC (Masonic Formation Committee) is designed to offer guidance, resources, and information to potential applicants, candidates, lodge members, and even to the general public. Each member of the MFC must be certified by the Grand Lodge (with the exception of the Master of the Lodge, who is a de facto member of all committees). Certification is obtained by attending Masonic Formation Certification classes held in various parts of the state on an annual basis. Each member's certificate lasts three years and must be renewed. Individuals who are not certified may assist the MFC as Masonic Formation Trainees.

Q - Why must a member become certified?

A - The process will help each attendee to understand the concept of MFC so it does not become just another way to say "Masonic education."

Q - Isn't Masonic education also the responsibility of the candidate's coach?

A - Yes and no. Our coaches do a great job assisting the candidate in preparing for his proficiency and assisting him to understand and respond to the essay questions. That's the requirement to advance as told to the candidate after each degree. However, some coaches go beyond that and encourage candidates to pursue more in-depth investigation of Masonic education. Think about that. What do we have to offer a coach who encourages a candidate to seek further light in Masonry? Do we have a Masonic Education Committee? So it's usually left to the candidate to seek further light on his own. And that is what this Masonic Formation Committee is designed to do. Offer candidates and Master Masons an opportunity to learn and develop in Masonry.

Q - Is this committee designed to just offer education to candidates?

A - That's just the beginning. Let's say that's all we have to offer, where would that put us in terms of Masonic education for candidates and Master Masons. However, the Grand Lodge encourages each lodge to think outside the box and see where it takes them. We have guidelines, but no limit or restrictions. Each lodge can set its own agenda and means to accomplish their objectives and goals, which is the true beauty of this program

Q - Tell us more about this Committee?

A - A Masonic Formation Committee will be assembled in the near future comprised of members who want to participate and become trainees in this program. There are no requirements other than a deep interest in Masonic education within and outside our lodge. The MFC encourages mentorship, discussion groups, guest speakers, study groups, training speakers, etc. This Committee takes up beyond what we have historically thought of as Masonic education in the traditional sense. The Grand Lodge looks at it as the graduate school for Master Masons.

What do we now have in place in the Lodge to offer potential applicants, candidates, and members to further their interest in Masonic history and education and beyond? What do we do to maintain a candidate's interest in Masonry during his degree process, other than assign a coach? What do we offer the coach in terms of assistance? What do we have to offer newly raised members who want to further their education outside of referring them to other organizations? Truthfully, not much. And that probably describes a big chunk of California lodges, so says the Grand Lodge. The real question here is not what we did or didn't do, but what are we going to do about it. We can sit around and point fingers all day and accomplish nothing. Or, we can get off our butt and do something meaningful. And that is what we intend to do. It is not the intent of this program to change or alter Masonry. It is designed to fulfill the ideals of Masonry.

Q – How does one become a member of this committee?

A - Ask. Although a member cannot sit as a Committee Member until he becomes certified, he can serve as an assistant for one year and become as involved in this program as any certified member during his term.

Q - What are the requirements?

A - There are no requirements other than a desire to learn, teach, direct, plan, organize, research, and seriously investigate and discuss Masonic history and education. If a member has a desire to learn more about Masonry and/or teach others, you the man.

Q - Do you think this can fly in our Lodge?

A - I see this MFC as a great opportunity and I'll do my best to get it off the ground, but it's up to our members to make it a success. I firmly believe we have a group of bright, well-educated and firmly committed Masons who will also see this as a great opportunity. I think some will want to be fully involved and others will give their time and effort to support and assist the Committee. Anyone who is interested will be welcomed. No one will be turned away on the basis of Masonic knowledge or his availability of time. If we can get this to just flap its wings we could change the way our lodge does business outside the Lodge Room. It will require time and work, but the rewards are enormous.

Q - What's the cost to the Lodge or members?

A - Just time and a willingness to pursue great things in Masonry.

Q - How much time?

A - I don't know just yet. I suspect we will meet once or maybe sometimes twice a month, either at the lodge or a place that will allow us to concentrate and discuss things. There will also be times when one or more Committee members will meet with a candidate or applicant for an hour or so. We'll know more as we get into this program.

Q - What's the first step?

A – We need to get this idea out to all masons in our lodge. Then we'll have discussions and form the Committee. No interested mason, regardless of degree or knowledge, will be turned away. What we will be looking for is a dedicated spirit to improving Masonry within himself and within in the lodge. When the Committee is established we will then define what we will do. Masonic education and development is the main objective. How we do that will be decided by the Committee.

Q - How many members will there be on the Committee?

A - I don't know. I would say as many as we need to do this right. It could be five or twenty-five. We'll figure that out as we go along.

Q - What if you only get one person?

A - Then we have a Committee?

Q - What if you have a lot of Masons interested in joining the Committee?

A - We can only have one Masonic Formation Committee. But the manual does not restrict us from forming committees within the Committee or outside the Committee. If we are successful in forming this Committee we'll find more things to do than we have people available. For example, for a long time I have been thinking of forming an Imagination Committee made up of Masons, their wives, Eastern Star, Job's, Rainbow, DeMolay, and even people outside Masonry, to dream up things we can all do, such as: family involvement in activities, fund raising, trips, interesting speakers, displays, community activities with schools, police, fire and other civic organizations, etc. What we have now is a play that's been running for hundreds years. Sure it was a big hit way back when they wore three-cornered hats and the "guys" sat around smoking clay pipes and discussing whatever they discussed. But this is the 21 Century and we must advance into our time. If we don't get on the bandwagon we will resign ourselves to the Masonry of yesterday. Don't get me wrong, Masonry has a fine and strong foundation, but where we once built a log cabin, we now have to build a skyscraper.

Q - I'm sure some members will agree and some will disagree. Can this Committee satisfy everyone?

A - This Committee, this Masonic concept, is not designed to change Masonry. We will still be accountable for our ritual performance. We will still conduct meetings and degrees in the same way and with the same enthusiasm as we have done for hundreds of years. And we will still strive for perfect ritual performance. But we will take that energy and interest and channel it into the real meaning of Masonry; that is, making a person a better person, and making a Mason a better informed and educated Mason. There will always be a place for the traditional Mason and for the Mason of the future.

Q - Do you think the lodge can do this?

A - I think so, but it all depends on our members. If we have members and family who are willing to support this program, there is no stopping what we can do. It's like show biz, the work put into the play will determine the success of the performance and ultimately the play itself. If we want a hit, we work to make it a hit. If we don't

John Wayne: American Patriot and Mason

(contributed by Gary Trammell)

On film he has fought in the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, World War II and Viet Nam. On the screen he has fought and won World War II with the Seabees, the Army, Navy, Marines and Flying Tigers. In actuality, John Wayne did not serve in the military, unlike many of his peers including William Holden, James Stewart, Clark Gable, Tyrone Power, Lee Marvin and Henry Fonda. He was 34 years old when the United States entered World War II, and was granted a deferment as a married father of four children.

However, never was there a more vocal supporter of America in general and the military and anti-Communism in particular. During the Vietnam War he criticized young men who went to Canada and Europe to dodge the draft, calling them cowards, and strongly criticized Jane Fonda and Donald Sutherland for their anti-war activism.

Born Marion Robert Morrison in Winterset, Iowa in 1907, he was the son of pharmacist Clyde Morrison and his wife Mary. Clyde moved his family from Iowa to the warmer climate of Southern California, where they tried ranching in the Mojave Desert. When the ranch failed, the family moved to Glendale, California, where Marion delivered medicines for his father and sold newspapers.

"There've been a lot of stories about how I got to be called Duke. One was that I played the part of a duke in a school play--which I never did. Sometimes, they even said I was descended from royalty!

It was all a lot of rubbish. The truth is that I was named after our family dog!"

Although never hailed as a great actor in the classic sense, he was quite accomplished on stage in high school. He even represented Glendale High School in the prestigious 1925 Southern California Shakespeare Competition, performing a passage from "Henry VIII".

He did well at school both academically and in football. When he narrowly failed admission to Annapolis he went to USC on a football scholarship from 1925 to 1927. Tom Mix got him a summer job as a prop man in exchange for football tickets. On the set he became close friends with director John Ford for whom, among others, he began doing bit parts, some billed as Duke Wayne, or John Wayne, the stage name suggested by producer Raoul Walsh. His first featured film was Men Without Women (1930). After more than 70 low-budget westerns and adventures, mostly routine, Wayne's career was stuck in a rut until Ford cast him in Stagecoach (1939), the movie that made him a star. He appeared in nearly 250 movies, many of epic proportions. His conservative political stance was also reflected in The Alamo (1960), in which he produced, directed and starred. His patriotic stand was enshrined in The Green Berets (1968) which he co-directed and starred in. He received the Best Actor nomination for Sands of Iwo Jima (1949) and finally got the Oscar for his role as one-eyed Rooster Cogburn in True Grit (1969). He is perhaps best remembered for his parts in Ford's cavalry trilogy - Fort Apache (1948), She Wore a Yellow Ribbon (1949) and Rio Grande (1950).

Ranked among the top four box office stars an astounding 19 times from 1949 to 1972, he made the top three a dozen times, the top two nine times, and was the #1 box office champ four times (1950, '51, '54 and 1971). By the early 1960s, 161 of his films had grossed $350 million. During his career his movies grossed an estimated half a billion dollars worldwide.

Just on his sheer popularity and his prominent political activism, the Republican party in 1968 supposedly asked him to run for President of the USA, even though he had no previous political experience. He turned them down because he did not believe America would take a movie star running for the President seriously. He did however support Ronald Reagan's campaigns for governor of California in 1966 and 1970, as well as his bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1976. Wayne was the first choice to play Marshal Matt Dillon on "Gunsmoke" (1955), but declined because he did not want to commit to a weekly TV series. He did, however, recommend his friend James Arness for the role, and gave the on-camera introduction in the pilot episode.

In 1959, Wayne was personally told by Nikita Khrushchev, when the Soviet Premier was visiting the United States on a goodwill tour, that Joseph Stalin and China's Mao

Tse-Tung had each ordered Wayne to be killed. Both dictators had considered Wayne to be a leading icon of American democracy, and they believed his death would be a major morale blow to the United States. Khrushchev told Wayne he had rescinded Stalin's order upon his predecessor's demise in March 1953, but Mao supposedly continued to demand Wayne's assassination well into the 1960s. It was no surprise that Wayne would become such an enduring icon. By the early 1960s, his contemporaries were all gone. The careers of other stars had declined considerably. Wayne, however, continued to star in movies until 1976, remaining one of the top ten stars at the US box office until 1974 when he was inducted into the Hall of Great Western Performers of the National Cowboy and Western Heritage Museum. His image was so far-reaching that when Emperor Hirohito visited America in 1975, he asked to meet the veteran star. Wayne was quoted in the Chicago Sun Times when he quipped, "I must have killed off the entire Japanese army."

In 1971 Wayne and James Stewart were traveling to Ronald Reagan's second inauguration as Governor of California when they encountered some anti-war demonstrators with a Vietcong flag. Stewart's stepson Ronald had been killed in Vietnam in 1969. Wayne walked over to speak to the protesters.

"Please don't do that, fellows," Duke warned the assembled. "I've seen too many kids your age wounded or dead because of that flag. So I don't take too kindly to it." Within minutes the flag had been lowered.

On 12 January 1979, Wayne entered hospital for gall bladder surgery and doctors discovered cancer in his stomach. President Jimmy Carter visited him, and Queen Elizabeth II sent him a get well card. He went into a coma on 10 June, and died at 5:35 on the evening of the next day. Fittingly, he was buried in Corona del Mar, in Orange County, California, the most Republican district in the United States. Wayne was buried in secret and the grave went unmarked until 1999, in case Vietnam War protesters had designs on desecrating the site. The conservative residents admired Wayne so much that they named their international airport after him.

In 1973 he was honored with the Veterans of Foreign Wars' highest award, The National Americanism Gold Medal, and was presented with The Congressional Gold Medal in 1979. He was posthumously awarded The Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award, by President Jimmy Carter in 1980. The inscription on the Congressional Gold Medal reads simply, "John Wayne, American." Masonic History:

John Wayne was initiated into The Order of DeMolay in 1924 at the Glendale Chapter in Glendale, California. He received the DeMolay Legion of Honor in 1970 and was a member of the first class to be inducted into the DeMolay Hall of Fame on November 13th, 1986. He was initiated, passed and raised in three straight days in June, 1970, at Marion McDaniel Lodge #56, F. & A.M. in Tucson, AZ. He later went through the York Rite in Los Angeles where he was awarded the 33rd Degree and became a member of Al Malaikah Shrine.

Some Quotable Quotes:

[When asked if he believed in God] "There must be some higher power or how else does all this stuff work?"

[On America] "I can tell you why I love her. I have a lust for her dignity. I look at her wonderfully classic face, and I see hidden in it a sense of humor that I love. I think of wonderful, exciting, decent things when I look at her. I am an old-fashioned, honest-to-goodness, flag-waving patriot."

"Courage is being scared to death - and saddling up anyway."

"I want to play a real man in all my films, and I define manhood simply: Men should be tough, fair, and courageous, never petty, never looking for a fight, but never backing down from one either."

"I don't want ever to appear in a film that would embarrass a viewer. A man can take his wife, mother and his daughter to one of my movies and never be ashamed or embarrassed for going."

[On DeMolay] "I was overwhelmed by the feeling of friendship, comradeship, and brotherhood. DeMolay will always hold a deep spot in my heart."

It's Election Time!

Ladies and Brethren,

We have committed to run two election precincts on November 4th, which will allow us to help serve our community while also earning money to support our Lodge's programs. This will undoubtedly be a very busy and challenging election for poll workers. Each of the precincts must be continuously staffed by at least 4 people for the 15 hours of set-up, operation, and close-out time that day.

In addition to the people who have already volunteered, we still need at least 16 more people to volunteer to work a 4-hour shift. Diane and I will act as the Precinct Inspectors. Masoud Shafa will again act as our Spanish language translator. At this writing, Gary and Marie Trammell have volunteered, as have Worshipful Dave Smith and Bob Alexander. I urge you to consider joining us in this service to both our community and our Lodge. Training will be available through the County of Ventura, "on line" or "hands on", your choice. To serve, you just need to be a registered voter in Ventura County. I have registration forms if you need one.

Please email me at glhart-jen@sbcglobal.net or leave a message at 805-306-1240 if you would like to volunteer. We need to get the list of volunteers together as soon as possible.

Pictures! (just a couple...)

As usual, the brothers don't take themselves TOO seriously!

More Masonic Trivia...

- Andrew McNair, a Philadelphia Mason, rang the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall on July 8, 1776 to call the people together to hear the reading of the Declaration of Independence. The bell developed a crack when it was rung for the death of Chief Justice Marshall, Past Grand Master of Virginia.
- Grand Masters generally have the power to make "Masons at Sight," which means the Master can do away with the formalities such as filing of petitions, waiting periods, etc. Some famous Masons who were made at sight include: William H. Taft, General George Marshall, and General Douglas MacArthur.
- In the 1800's several grand lodges established Masonic colleges. The most successful of which was in Hannibal, MO in 1847. Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, North Carolina, and Georgia all tried, but all were eventually closed due to lack of support.
- Lyndon Johnson took the First Degree of October 30, 1937 but never progressed any further. Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House took his First Degree on August 7, 1922. He died in 1961 without receiving the second. Warren G. Harding was initiated on June 28, 1901 and it took him 19 years to complete the other two.
- Lodges in Massachusetts have no numbers. In Pennsylvania there are 11 Lodges that have numbers but no names. In Georgia there are two Lodges with the number 1. In Maryland, Tennessee, and Pennsylvania there is no Lodge with the number 1 .

care, it'll flop.

Q – When do you start?

A – As soon as we can. There's a lot of work we must do to get this thing moving

Q - Who is going to head this Committee?

A - In the beginning, me, only because I'm the only officially certified member. As we go along and more members become certified, then someone else may take the Chair. The members of the Committee will elect the Chairman. Terms of office will be established by its members. This will all be worked out as we go along.

Q – Do you want to give credit to anyone?

A - Yes. Wor. Terry Baker for his support, his encouragement, and his desire to see our Lodge grow and develop. Our Senior Warden, Tom White. He knew the value of this program even before I heard about it. He encouraged me to attend because he's wise enough to know that we must prepare for the future if Masonry is to survive. And Gary Hartjen, PM, who, through his commitment to Masonry and our Lodge, has allowed me to see some of my dreams take giant steps toward reality.

Q - Is there anything else you would like to add?

A - In closing I would like to encourage every member of our lodge to look at this program very closely and to ask questions. If you don't want to be a member of this program, that's OK. All we ask is that you give us your support and encouragement. And to those that are interested, please call or send me an email. 818-512-0435 or heyjoe@yaho.com.

Thank you for your time.

Oscar:

Well, that's my article for this month. If you have any ideas for future interviews you know where to reach me. Just watch your big feet. God bless and I'll see ya at the dinner.
